Sunday 1st November 2020 – All Saints

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ,

Happy feast day of all the saints in heaven!

On Wednesday I went for a hike through Macclesfield forest and then up to the peak of Shutlingsloe. Perhaps it is my stubborn streak or maybe it is just the Irish blood in me, but I somewhat enjoy battling the wind and rain when out for a hike or climbing a mountain. It feels like a bit of an accomplishment to make it to the goal through a struggle.

Over the top of Shutlingsloe I spotted a solitary bird effortlessly riding upon the shifting winds. Then this large bird (not sure what kind) stopped in mid-air and began to hover in one spot. With only a slight movement of its powerful wings the bird managed to remain in the same spot for some time, unmoved by the raging wind and the lashing rain. It was quite the sight against the backdrop of the silver-lined rain clouds. I couldn't help but see this as an image for the Christian life.

A saint is one who remains unmoved in adversity and who has the courage to do the right thing even when buffeted by the winds of opposition. A saint is one who speaks the truth even in the face of intimidation to remain silent. A saint continues to trust in God's love in the midst of the violent storms of life. A saint refuses to sin even when everything within and without is tempting him or her to do so. A saint perseveres in love, even when love is not returned. There are many saints who have already made it home to heaven - as we affirm in this celebration today - but are there many on the earth at this time?

It is hard to say, but one thing is certain: in Baptism the Lord unleashed a cycle of grace in each of our lives sufficient to make us into saints if only we would fully cooperate with it. It would be a tragedy to have been offered eternal greatness and drawn back from it out of fear or because of some attachment to what is not of God. As the eccentric but brilliant poet, Léon Bloy, once said, “There is only one real sadness in life: not to be a saint.” No other failure really matters in the end...

May God bless and protect you all.
Fr Sean

To Receive Holy Communion Worthily:

As the Catechism says: “After having attained the age of discretion, each of the faithful is bound by an obligation faithfully to confess serious sins at least once a year. Anyone who is aware of having committed a mortal sin must not receive Holy Communion, even if he experiences deep contrition, without having first received sacramental absolution. Without being strictly necessary, confession of everyday faults (venial sins) is nevertheless strongly recommended by the Church.”(Catechism, 1457-1458).

Please pray for all those who are sick and all those who have died recently. We remember Richard Airey, Molly Frost, Minnie Johnson, Ernest Moore, Agnes Gordon, Thomas Bennett, Thomas Ward, Mary Tracey, Marian Hughes, Margaret Barrans, Claire Tallents, Gerry Barker, Marie Kelly, Mary Houlihan, Mary Moore, Patrick Kelly, Alice Ward, Joan Clancy, Stanley Shaw and all those who anniversaries occur at this time. May they rest in peace.
